BECAUSE OF YOU
By Rose Bennington

Rare scent of blossoms in the breeze;
A sky of dazzling hue;
The gay birds caroling in trees.
A warm handclasp; a gentle squeeze.
I realize the wealth of these,
Because of you.

* * *

"Beacuse of You!" That's a theme for a philosopher, isn't it?

* * *

I know of no more effective stumulus to create a desire to go forth and do something worthwhile than the knowledge that there is some one who has supreme faith and confidence in you. Some one who places a high value upon your friendship. Someone who looks up to you with the highest esteem, and holds you in their heart of much importance.

* * *

The importance of all this was revealed very forcefully a short time ago by a sociologist who has spent many years in reconstructing the lives of unfortunate people in the slums of New York City.

* * *

"I admire your courage," I told her. "Most women in your social position would abhor such work, and loathe the idea of rubbing shoulders with people of questionable character."

My friend—the sociologist only smiled and replied: "It's not nearly as difficult as you imagine. Especially so when one has an understanding of the human heart."

* * *

Her story was most interesting, confirming the old belief that there is good in every one of us, but—that it takes an expert often times to find the "gold."

* * *

For instance my friend stated that even so called desperate characters turned into harmless doves when once they could be convinced that you had faith and confidence in them, and that you were not interested in their past life and reputation.

* * *

"I have seen men who were looked upon as hard-boiled—sit down and cry as if their heart would break," she said—"after being assured that you had faith and confidence in them. I have had so called desperate characters look at me with their soul in their eyes and say—"Lady, if it only really mattered to someone whether I made good and was straight, how willing I would be to make a break and turn over a new leaf and—be a man!"

* * *

But it is not only down-and-outers who need assurance. I once heard a woman of high social prominence make the remark—"There is one time of the day when I really feel important; that is when the morning mail arrives. And when I do not get any mail, I always feel more or less in the "dumps" for the rest of the day."

* * *

Once let a man or woman get the thought in his or her mind that—"nobody cares about my success or failure, so why should I"—and you have a case which requires immediate attention. It is the beginning of the end.

* * *

"Because of you." It makes the song of the bird more sweet; the sky more blue; the flowers more beautiful; the sun more golden; and the stars more brilliant. It makes the commonplace lovely.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC OFFER DOLLAR DAY RATES FOR EASTER

Announcement of a four-day series of Dollar Day excursions over the Easter period, April 13 to 16, with roundtrip fares cut to approximtely one cent a mile, was made today by the Southern Pacific Company.

The special low-fare offering will provide for travel over the company's lines throughout the West, according to local officials of the railroad.

To give excursionists time for distant trips, a return limit of April 25 has been fixed, it was stated.

ORANGE—(CPS)—A cluster of seven good-sized oranges grew on the leafless limb of an orange tree, at the home of Mrs. Rose Mag in Santa Ana canyon.

FIVE CENT BEER IMPOSSIBLE, CLAIM STATE BREWERS

Spigots Begin To Flow Tomorrow, But California Has Voted Definitely Against Return of Saloon

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—Hoch, prosit and gesundheit!

Whether or not California stages a formal celebration of the return of beer April 7, and Governor Rolph is invited to knock in the first bung, the state is going to be right on hand to supervise all beer sales.

The legislature is all set to jam through emergency legislation which Governor Rolph will sign in time to prevent an unregulated condition when the spigots begin to flow.

"Unless such action is taken," warned Attorney General U. S Webb, "anyone can set up a barrel on a street corner and sell beer."

Counties may tax beer for the purposes of regulation only, the attorney general held, while the city or state may tax it for revenue or regulation.

Despite the fact that enormous quantities of the new beer will be ready in all parts of California, the brewers hold that the old price of 5 cents a glass will be impossible.

This is not so much on account of the federal and state tax, both of which are for revenue purposes, but because prices of the necessary ingredients and other "overhead" costs.

These include the barley and hops, the new machinery that has to be purchased, trucks, barrels, bottles, refrigeration machinery, syrups, isinglass, varnish, rubber, brass fittings, labels, faucets, bungs, bunging machinery, corks, crown caps, pasteurizers, dryers, coolers, pumps, tanks, gas compressors and a thousand other things.

If steam beer makes a successful comeback, the 5 cent price may be maintained, the experts explain. It is one drink that can only be handled successfully in a saloon. And California has voted very definitely against the return of a saloon.

Steam beer is about ten times gassier than soda pop. It can't be bottled. Formerly it was sold only in kegs, which were kept in a special cooler. And when a bartender "drew one" he had to use care, nursing a tiny stream down the side of the glass.

Every once in a while a keg would explode. When it did, the rest of the cooler usually exploded in sympathy.

Such explosions, of course, couldn't be regulated by the state legislature. But the tax, which has a lot to do with the price, can be set by the state. That is why 10-cent beer is expected—at least until the first supply is sold, and breweries and distributors get their bearings.

Chamber of Commerce Oppose Craig Bill Now Before Senate

Believe It To Best Interests Of State Motorists To Leave Road System As It Is. Anderholden Talks On Winter Sports.

After hearing a talk by Mr. Voltz, Auburn, Calif., representative of the California State Automobile Association, at the weekly meeting held at noon last Monday, the members went on record as being opposed to the Craig Bill, which has passed the State Assembly and is now before the State Senate. The local chamber sent a telegram Monday aftrnoon to State Senator Sewell, requesting him to vote against the bill when it comes up in the senate.

The bill in question, No. 1272, introduced by Assemblyman Craig on January 26, 1933, relates to the marking of State highways for the purpose of indicating numbers of routes, and making available information of cautionary, regulatory or directional nature pertaining to the use of such highways, and defining the powers and duties of the State Department of Public Works and the Division of Highways in relation thereto.

It is estimated by the California State Automobile Association that California has been saved an expenditure of more than $250,000 in State funds during the past five years as a result of the long established method of erecting and maintaining road signs thru their association and the Automobile Club of Southern California which functions as a single official road signing agency for the entire state. Figures presented by C. H. Purcell, State Highway Engineer, show that in the last five years the sign work of the two automobile clubs on State highways would have cost the State $292,664.75. Actually the State paid as co-operation in this work the sum only of $35,510.74.

The Truckee Republican has been opposed to any change in the present road sign system, and carried an editorial to this effect as far back as September 1st, 1932. On September 15, 1932 the Republican received a letter of appreciation from D. E. Watkins, Secretary and General Manager of the California State Automobile Association, commending the Republican for the strong stand which it had taken regarding the efficient and effective work of the two automobile clubs in their road sign work for the state motorists.

Anderholden Talks on Winter Sports

As a result of a letter which appeared in the Truckee Republican March 23, 1933 issue from A. J. Anderholden of Truckee, regarding the rearrangements of operation of Truckee Winter Sports, he was invited by the Truckee Chamber of Commerce to attend the meeting last Monday and give a talk on the subject. Mr. Anderholden appeared at this meeting and made several suggestions which will be investigated by the directors.

POSTPONED SUICIDES

New York City had 111 fewer suicides in 1932 than in 1931. Dr. Harry M. Warren, president of the National-Save-a Life League, reports that the greatest decrease in the suicide rate occurred in the June to October period, while the national political campaign was in full swing. Citizens who got more than fed up on political speeches may find it hard to believe that people are deterred from suicide by the excitement of a political campaign. Says Dr. Warren:

"Statisticians have already recorded the fact that the suicide rate is invariably affected by contests of widespread interest, such as a presidential election or even a world champion prize fight, where the interest is great enough. In the same way, a threat of war has been known to cause a decrease in the number of suicides."

Despondent individuals, on the brink of suicide, he says, are like little children who are reluctant to go to bed when they know something interesting is going to happen. "They don't want to miss anything that is stirring up a lot of excitement, but when the excitement is over, the suicidal impulse returns and conquers many of them."

Is not this a serious criticism of our social order, perhaps of our educational system? A certain amount of excitement is fun, but persons with inner resources do not require constant stimulation of artificial excitement to make life interesting. More of us should have such resources. They can be cultivated.

JEW-BAITING IN GERMANY

The regime of Adolph Hitler as legal dictator of Germany starts inauspiciously.

It required many years for the United States to overcome the hatreds engendered by the world war. Now, just as the old scars were about to heal, the new ruler opens them by a regime of Jew-baiting.

Granted, of course, that much of the news of anti-Semitic activities may be exaggerated, just as anti-German propaganda during the war was purposely colored.

The fact remains that, having once believed stories of German atrocities, it is easier for an aroused public now to believe than challenge reports of the Nazis' cruelties.

Perhaps Hitler may be persuaded that his social and economic boycott against the Jews is wrong. It is doubtful, however. Hitler's record has not demonstrated an ability to govern his country wisely and thoughtfully.

THE DANGER OF BEER

Will Rogers sensibly raises the point that abuse of the new beer privilege may make it harder to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

That is true, perhaps, unless the W. C. T. U. comes to the rescue with an old-time crusade on the evils of intemperance.

In other words, nature has never repealed its law that too much alcohol in the human system weakens both mind and body.

Used in moderation, beer is a food and a pleasant stimulant, its advocates insist. Used to excess, it may become a menace to health.

It is to be hoped that the return of beer will be marked by temperate usage. It should be a crusade of the anti-prohibtionists themselves and would go a long way in aiding repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

CHAIN STORE TAX TABLED

The power to tax is the power to destroy. And destruction was the primary motive behind the proposed chain store tax now before the state legislature.

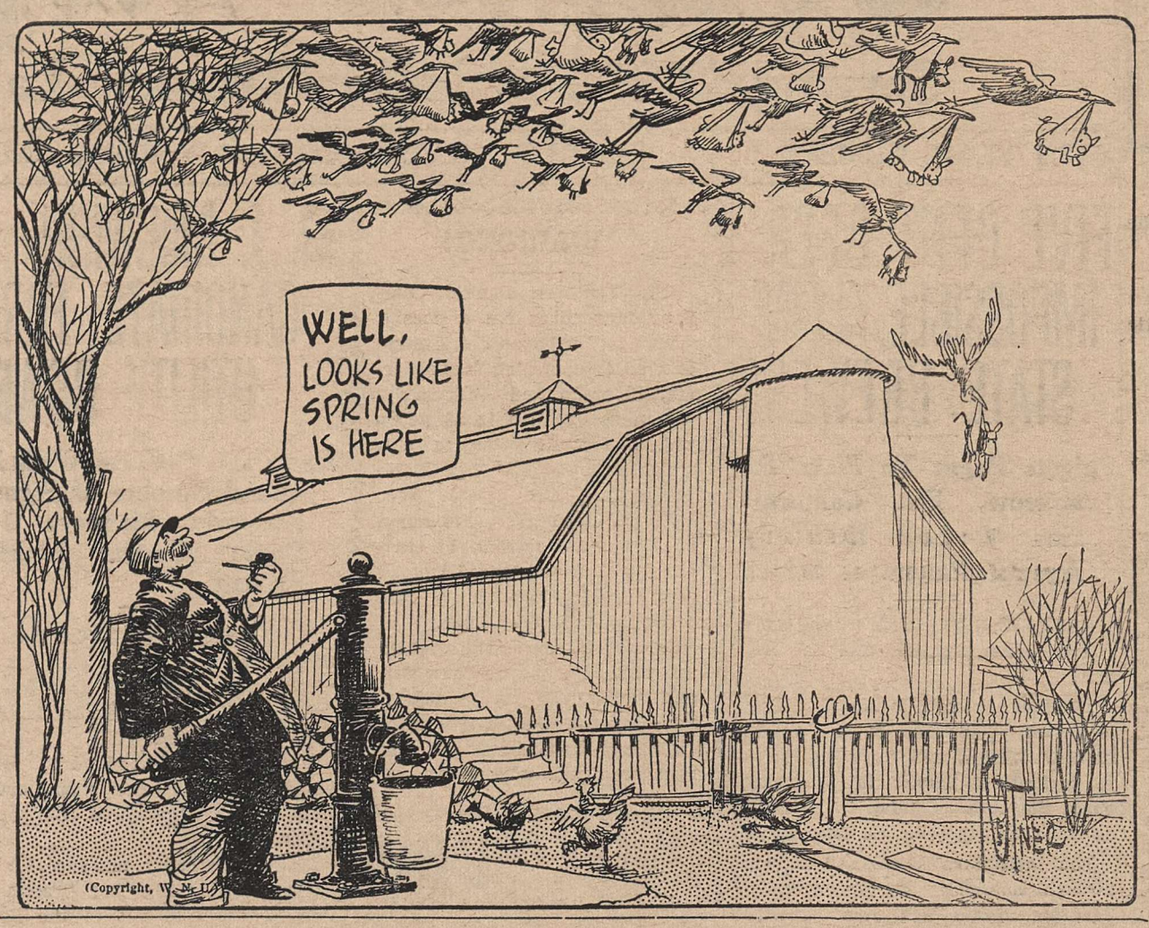

This bill called for a tax of from $3 to $25 per store on each chain store. It has been tabled by the senate judiciary committee, at the author's request.

Chain stores were evolved for the same reason that "5 and 10 cent stores" were created. They provide goods to consumers at low prices.

Just as public utilities pass along their tax to the ultimate consumer, so would the chain store tax fall on the small purchaser who is ill able to pay any more taxes.

The senate committee should let the measure remain on the table, and make no further attempt to revive it.

POLITICAL PARADE

By Homer L. Roberts

(California Press Service Writer)

Special to The Truckee Republican

ROW. A new rift has appeared in Governor Rolph's official family. This time it is between Jack Brennan and Rolland A. Vandegrift.

Homer Roberts

Brennan accused Vandegrift of "meddling" in the department of military affairs, of which Brennan is director, and recommending salary cuts without consulting Brennan.

"It was a request of the legislature," said Vandegrift. "If you feel that way about it you can fight your own legislative battles."

"All right, I will," retorted Brennan.

OIL. Echoes of the recent Sharkey oil bill fight, in which Governor Rolph sided with the big producers, were heard in the halls of the capitol this week.

Senator Chris N. Jespersen, Paso Robles asked a senate probe into Governor Rolph's selection of two men to attend the national oil conference at Washington, D. C.

Jespersen hinted that W. H. Cooley, William Keck, and Ralph Lloyd, named by Rolph, didn't represent the state, but really the big producers. Else why should they pay their own expenses?

Informed authorities feel the probe would get nowhere.

STICKING. Vandegrift has let it be known he isn't resigning, despite recent newspaper "build up" for such a move.

Moreover, Vandegrift doesn't think he is going to be fired by Governor Rolph on account of the senate investigation committee's charges.

It's hard to predict just what the governor is going to do. When he hinted he was going to fire Dudley Moulton, he did. When he hinted he would fire State Forester M. B. Pratt he didn't.

This week he inclined more to the defense of Vandegrift and Dr. J. M. Toner, director of institutions rather than their removal.

WATER. Two young assemblyman, both serving their first terms, were largely responsible for putting over the water development amendment in the assembly.

They are Clifford R. Anglim of Richmond and Ford A. Chatters of Lindsay.

If adopted by the senate, the measure will do much toward obtaining federal aid for the $160,000,000 central valley project.

Chatters organized the vote in the assembly and picked the strategic time to offer the bill. Anglim's "maiden speech" in its behalf was a masterpiece, and drew applause from the gallery.

BARGAIN. Don't be surprised if the state decides to buy the much-probed annex building in San Francisco at a saving of $200,000.

Attorneys for Walter T. Varney, owner, offered the structure to the state for $350,000, as compared with $550,000 called for in the original agreement.

Governor Rolph is said to favor getting the thing off his hands, as it's caused enough trouble already.

SNAPSHOTS: Assembly refuses to repeal California's "gin marriage" act . . . Oregon, meanwhile, adopts a similar law . . . R. C. Branion, new "relief czar," finally found office space in the capitol . . . It adjoins the quarters of the state board of equalization . . . The state fair may be saved after all . . . Now it's planned to whack the premium list in two, and sell badges, instead of the thousands of passes given away annually . . . The badge would read, "I Helped Save the State Fair."

Folks Worth Knowing

Dr. J. H. BERNARD

This week we present Dr. Joseph H. Bernard. A citizen, friend and physician the community is mighty proud of.

Dr. Bernard was born and brought up in the suburbs of Portland, Oregon. The son of a French military officer, who adopted the U. S. A. as his country.

After studying medicine in Port land for two years, Dr. Bernard went to Stanford University medical school in San Francisco and completed his education and secured his degree.

His first practice after leaving the San Francisco Interneship was established in the mining field near Sonora.

In 1903 he located in Truckee, and has practiced medicine here ever since. He is known far and wide throughout the entire Truckee-Lake Tahoe-Sierra Region, and has attained a most unusual reputation as a highly efficient surgeon and physician. He is on the staff of the Southern Pacific Company, and in years gone by, he was physician for the Floriston Mills, the icing plant at Boca and a dozen or more other companies and corporations.

Dr. Bernard is a member of the Board of Truckee Fire Commissioners, and has taken an active part in the development of the community.

In fraternal affairs, he is a member of Summit Lodge No. 54, Knights of Pythias.

The doctor's favorite diversions are fishing and raising flowers, and he holds an enviable reputation in both fields.

The community is most fortunate in having a medical doctor who ranks so high in his profession. Despite numerous offers to locate in more lucrative fields, the doctor has remained loyal to the town of his choice, and the mountains, streams, lakes and forests of which he is very fond. He is a real friend to all. A man the community can well be proud of.

MARTINEZ—(CPS)—C. A. Cain telegraphed his bank not to cash a certain check. The message arrived signed "C. A. Casin," and the order was unheeded. Now Cain is raising Cain in a $350 damage suit against the telegraph company.

A NEW DAY

It is wonderful to be alive at this time and witness the great transformation that is taking place in our national life, yes in our international life.

Splendid and lasting good will come to the people of the world out of this conglomeration of complexities and perplexities which the peoples of the world have let themselves in for.

"The heavy hand of the Almighty has fallen on us," said a speaker recently. If you chop down a tree and stand where it will fall on you, you can not blame the Almighty for that. If you set fire to a corner of your house to warm your hands and the building burns down, you can not blame the Almighty for that.

If you soak a fox with kerosene, touch a match to him and turn him loose and he runs into a ripe grain field and starts a fire that consumes a thousand acres of wheat, you can not blame the Almighty for that.

We have done what has been done. We are responsible ourselves for the condition we are in, and there is no sense in trying to pass the buck to a Higher Power.

It takes stern realities to bring men to their senses. It takes catastrophes, cataclysms, huge tragedies to bring out the best in men and women and make them forget their petty selves.

A glorious spirit is springing up in the United States. You can feel it, if you will quiet yourself and permit yourself to be susceptible to it. If you will stop worrying about your personal affairs and begin thinking about the national affairs, you will see that a change is taking place throughout the length and breadth of this land.

For the first time since I can remember the people of the United States are thinking earnestly and sincerely in terms of the United States. Ever since I can remember, the affairs of our nation have been run on the grab-bag plan. Today, the grab-bag is being forgotten except by a scheming selfish few.

An attitude of willingness to do what is best for the nation is rapidly building up among us and in us. The realization that united we stand, divided we fall, is seeping into minds where it never before penetrated.

As a nation of people, working for the best good of the people, we can do magnificent things for the people. As a nation of people, each working for himself, we can accomplish nothing but wreck and ruin. Our present chaotic condition is the result of the unfortunate policy of every man for himself.

A new day dawns for the United States, a day brighter than ever before. We have everything here to do with. All we have lacked is the will to do what we should do for the good of all. We are now beginning to manifest a willingness to do our individual part in making this nation a safe place in which to live—safe for everybody.

It is a great privilege to be alive at a time when a superb nation of a hundred and twenty million souls comes to its senses and lays plans for constructive reorganization. It is a glorious opportunity to be alive and to have even a small part in such reorganization.

The trials and the tribulations that we are now going through are having and will continue to have a quickening effect on our spiritual selves. And that is a fine thing, a very fine thing.

Capital News Letter

(California Press Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—With adjournment only 5 weeks away and most of the important legislation yet to be accomplished, the California state legislature shifted into high gear this week. The status of major bills was as follows:

BEER. There will be no regulation of beer sales unless necessary measures are adopted by the legislature, the attorney general has ruled. As a result, beer bills are hurriedly being drafted by committees of both houses.

UTILITIES. Privately owned public utilities would be given protection from competition by publicly owned utilities, under a measure approved by the senate and sent to the house.

CHAIN STORES. The bill taxing chain stores from $3 to $25 per store is dead. It was tabled in committee at the request of its author, Senator Jerrold Seawell, Roseville.

TRUCKS. Truck companies won a bitter fight with railroads when the senate defeated a bill by Senator Charles H. Deuel, Chico, giving wide power to the state railroad commission to govern trucking routes, rates, and hours of operation.

GAS TAX. Postponed "indefinitely" was the proposal to divert funds from the gasoline tax to pay interest and redemption on old state highway bonds. Reason. The entire state tax system may soon be scrapped or altered.

FINANCE. A state board of control would succeed to financial powers of the present director of finance under a bill approved by senate committee. The board would include the attorney general, budget supervisor and state controller until 1935, after which the lieutenant governor would be a member instead of the attorney general.

GIN MARRIAGE. Repeal of the act requiring a delay of 3 days before a marriage license is granted, provided in a bill by Percy G. West, Sacramento, was defeated by the assembly, 35 to 14.

SCHOOLS. The senate adopted the Ingels amendment cutting down the costs of school support to counties, and also the bill by Senator W. P. Rich, Marysville, removing tenure from teachers now under its protection.

LAWYERS. Jobs now held by 42 special attorneys in various state departments would be abolished and placed under the attorney general's

The Letter Box

Editor, The Truckee Republican:

For the second time this year at Sacramento will come up the Humane Pound Bill for voting. This bill is to protect from Universities where medical students burn and cut dogs and cats, using no anaesthetic, those stray animals which are caught by Pounds. Some Pounds where we pay taxes to have our pets put to death as painlessly as possible, are selling dogs for five dollars, callous to their subsequent tortures. Pounds at Long Beach and San Jose refuse to sell and various brave papers are bringing this before the public. Little is said to reveal what medical students do because vast funds are invested in medicines from it. When England stopped vivisection in 1876 and have been able to doctor patients without it, America certainly should have followed suit long ago. Leading medical lights admit that animals do not react to poisons and other tests as do humans, so it is just a cruel sport to satisfy pupils who with this dulling of pity in their hearts are being trained to become potential criminals.

For an outline of this topic tune in on KQW April 28th about 5:45 P. M. and listen to what Dorothy Mac will tell you.

Write your Senator at once to Sacramento asking him to vote for Humane Pound Bill, which only protects strays. The whole hideous practice of vivisection should be stopped.

Amendment To Consolidate Cities, Counties Proposed

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(California Press Service Writer)
Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—A proposed constitutional amendment which would permit the city of Truckee and the county of Nevada to consolidate with other cities and counties for the purpose of effecting governmental economies, is before the senate committee on constitutional amendments.

The measure, introduced by Senators Edward H. Tickle, Carmel; Edgar W. Stow, Santa Barbara, and Harry L. Parkman, San Mateo would permit and two or more cities or counties, either adjoining, or one within the boundaries of the other, to be merged under one government.

While there has been much talk of consolidation in California, the possibility of actually making such county or city mergers effective under the present law are remote, sponsors of the measure pointed out. Local public officials are too firmly entrenched politically to permit a successful consolidation movement.

"The amendment gets around this difficulty nicely," it was stated, since it leaves all political boundaries intact and the program can pass over those offices which could not be properly administered over a larger area or are politically too strong to be included in the program."

In other words, the proposal permits of consolidation and economy without totally upsetting the political picture in the area affected.

Briefly, the procedure of consolidation would be this: Petitions carrying 15 per cent of the voters who voted for governor at the preceding election are submitted to the city council, supervisors or other legislative authority, calling for a consolidation election.

At this election the people vote first on the question, "Shall a consolidation board be elected?" and second for the members of the board If the question carries, then the board organizes, and within 4 months prepares jointly the articles of consolidation for the government of the consolidated cities or counties.

After the articles are prepared, they are published in phamplet form and mailed to each voter 30 days before the election, which is held separately and simultaneously in each subdivision. A majority vote is necessary to consolidate.

"The whole setup established to perform the functions of local government in California must be critically examined," the bill's sponsors said, "for possible realignment between cities, cities and counties, whose political boundaries are contiguous. It is only merging functions that substantial reductions in the cost of government can be made."

Good Market Predicted For 'Frozen Pack' Fruits

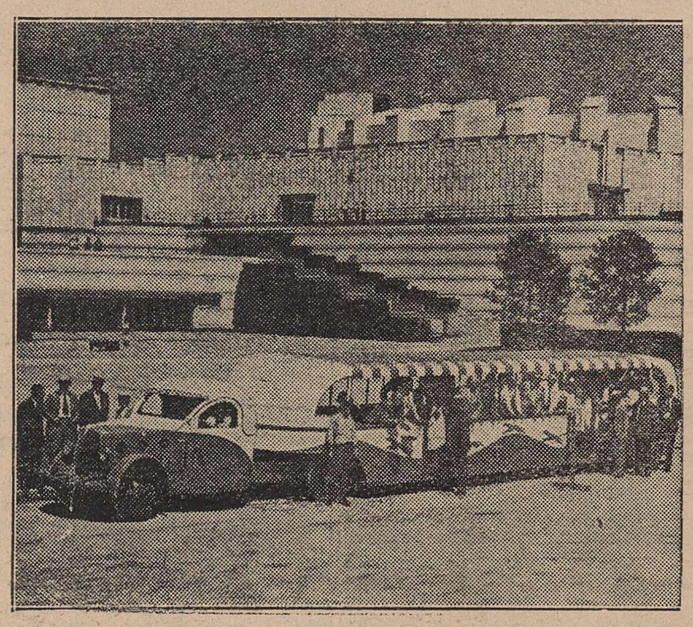

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—A wide market for California fruits preserved by the "frozen pack" process is predicted by the United States department of agriculture in a communication received by the state department here.

Strawberries, peaches, raspberries, dewberries, sweet cherries, grapes, nectarines and figs have been successfully preserved by this process.

Importance was attached by the scientists to the rate of freezing required to give the best results. Cherries and peaches were generally better when frozen slowly. It was also found that in general, a fruit, to be successfully frozen packed, must be put up in air-tight containers.

The federal department's frozen pack laboratories are at Fresno.

RUSSELL BEVANS OPPOSED TO 'PER TON MILE' TAX

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—Crossing swords with the state board of equalization over the proposed "per ton mile" tax on motor trucks, Russell Bevans, registrar of the state department of motor vehicles, this week declared his opposition to the measure.

Bevans said, "There is nothing in the bill that holds out any assurance to cities or counties that they will receive large sums from the tax, because nobody knows how much will be collected."

His opposition to the proposal, he explained, could be summed up as follows: It makes promises that are unwarranted. It conflicts with present motor vehicle laws without provisions for adjustment. And it would work a hardship on thousands of farmers who own trucks and use them only a small part of the time on the state highways.

LADYBUGS DECLARE WAR ON ALL PESTS

CAPIPATRIA, Cal., April 8—(CPS)—An army of 24,000,000 ladybugs is preparing to wage a very unlady-like war on vegetable pests in this section.

Ladybugs are deadly enemies of plant lice and green vegetable aphis, which infest the pea fields here.

ODD ACCIDENTS ARE NUMEROUS IN CALIFORNIA

Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—Some of the oddest accidents of the last year occurred in California, according to a checkup by Will J. French, member of the Industrial accident commission.

As a usual thing, accidents are pretty serious matters. Now and then, however, one proves to be so unusual that it is funny, French said.

For example, there was one California girl who was the star catcher on her high school team until the day last spring when she called the wrong signal and took a fast curve ball squarely on the nose.

Automobile accidents are usually routine affairs, but one victim, Robert Benitez, was struck three times by three different automobiles, and lived to tell the tale. A month previous to this, Mrs. Emma Graves of Los Angeles was struck by a baby buggy and killed, which turned a humorous accident into tragedy.

A golf player, Frank Corrigan, took a lusty swing with a brassie and almost strangled before assistance arrived. The club snapped in two and the broken head and tape lashed tightly around his neck.

Jack Schaub, the Californian said to have caused the largest compensation loss for any individual case in the United States, died last fall. He was injured in an industrial accident in 1917, and at the time doctors said he could not live 6 months.

He remained alive a much longer time, although paralyzed from the waist down, and the case cost the state of California nearly $50,000 for hospital and surgical care.

One young hunter was toying with a .22 caliber pistol when a fly perched on his knee. Taking careful aim, the man fired. The bullet struck his knee cap and, no doubt, put a permanent crease in his trousers.

A 13 year old youngster was flying his kite, it was related, when the string got tangled up in a 60,000 volt power line. Things started happening. The line-short-circuited, burst into flames and broke. A loose end fell on a passerby, knocked off his hat and burned it like tinder.

The end then dropped on the pavement, sputtered its way through 15 inches of asphalt paving, and into a gas main. The gas ignited with a roar.

"And the only person hurt was the youngster," said the report. "His only injuries came after the excitement was over, when he got a good old-fashioned spanking for flying his kite in the vicinity of electric wires.

Christian Science

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, April 9, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "Bless the Lord, O my soul and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities. who healeth all thy diseases" (Psalms 103:2, 3).

Other Bible citations will include: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? we shall not die. Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity" (Hab. 1:12, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In common justice, we must admit that God will not punish man for doing what He created man capable of doing, and knew from the outset that man would do. God is 'of purer eyes than to behold evil.' We sustain Truth, not by accepting, but by rejecting a lie" (p. 357).

GIVE 'NEW DEAL' A FAIR DEAL, URGES EDITORIAL ASSN.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—Give the "new deal" a fair deal.

This, in brief, was the reply of Justus F. Craemer, Orange publisher and president of the National Editorial Association, when asked by a national magazine, to telegraph his opinion of the Roosevelt administration thus far.

Three questions were propounded by Craemer, as follows:

What has been the effect of President Roosevelt's action so far, in your opinion? What is the attitude of the newspapers going to be? What do you think about the Reconstruction Finance Corporation publicity?

Craemer's telegraphed reply follows:

"The administration seems to be meeting the situation with bold gestures, and appears to make some progress in reestablishing public confidence in the banking structure. National problems, however, are not likely to dissolve before any legislative magic.

"The press might well give the new order time to mobilize its forces and develop its operations before drawing conclusions. Constructive criticism is always valuable, but this is not a time for partisan hostility. The new deal should have a fair deal.

"I have always doubted the usefulness of publicity in connection with R. F. C. loans. The Democratic congress might advantageously reverse itself on a policy which implies suspicion of its own administrative officers. Honesty is in no wise dependent upon publicity. Untimely publicity frequently does more harm than good."

AVOID LARGE CROWDS OR BABY MAY GET THE WHOOPING COUGH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6—(CPS)—Keep your baby out of crowds, if you don't want him to catch whooping cough..

Such is the recommendation of Dr .Giles S. Porter, state director of public health, who reports that whooping cough has reached epidemic proportions in California.

"Whooping cough is serious in a baby under one year," says Porter. "This on account of the fact that they are more frequently complicated with broncho-pneumonia in infancy."

A large number of deaths have already been reported from the disease, with the number of cases increasing daily.

Was He Embarrassed!

SACRAMENTO, Cal. April 6—(CPS)—Jack Stafford, veteran appellate clerk, has sworn off acting as unofficial guide to the state capitol.

Stafford piloted a group of 10 women and two men around the buildings, explaining in detail the functions of the various departments.

They seemed to appreciate the trip. But after they left, Stafford learned it was a naturalization class from Modesto, and the group could neither speak nor understand a word of English.

'MR. ROBINSON CRUSOE' WITH DOUG FAIRBANKS COMING HERE SUNDAY

One of the outstanding features of "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," the Douglas Fairbanks picture which comes to the Donner Theatre Sunday night, is the musical score which supplements it.

Alfred Newman, famed composer, did it, and by so doing he has lent infinite quality and color to the South Sea idyll pictured in the Fairbanks film. The quaint and plaintive strains of the South Seas undertone the movement with a striking obligato, much of which is pitched in minor keys.

As the greater portion of the Polynesian alphabet is made up of vowels, so is the South Sea music composed largely of minors. Mr Newman has capitalized the native music in his score, the result being one of his best pieces of work. And this is a big order when it is considered that much of the best music emanating from Hollywood has come from his pen.

Customs of the South Seas, glorious pictorial value and unique costuming lend great novelty to "Mr. Robinson Crusoe." The story deals with a man isolated on a desert island where he works out his own salvation after the manner of Robinson Crusoe, except that he is confronted with many harrowing experiences.

William Farnum, Maria Alba, Earle Brown and others contribute much to the interest of the picture, which was directed by Edward Sutherland and whose story was written by Tom Geraghty.

A buffet lunch was served during the intermission.

T. E. "Honey" Eversult, B&B 108 Tunnel Six, spent an unique week end in the Capital City learning to manipulate the art of operating skates that has taken the younger class by storm this spring in the cities, he being taught by a popular Sacramento Society matron, who displays impartial patience with her scholar.

Norden is not without its up to the minute details in not keeping up with the balance of the United States when beer officially goes in effect on April 7th as the Norden Grocery has taken out a permit in keeping with all the larger cities and beer will be very much in evidence after that date and the old timers can then recall days that used to be. Many parties are planned for this community.
